Still The Economy

Recurring fears of an economic slowdown have hit the stock and bond markets in opposite ways the last couple of weeks. For stocks, they took a negative hit, but for bonds, it was positive. Take a look at the Scoreboard returns on the table below.

The main two drags are housing and employment. After a year of recovery, the unemployment rate is actually up 0.1% from 9.4% to 9.5% currently. Investors are beginning to wonder what it will take for this to change.

The second drag is housing.

According to Bloomberg, in 7 of the last 8 recessions, housing led the recovery. This time, however, given the overhang and foreclosures, it may drag the economy back down.

But the reality for stocks is

The chart shows the daily S&P 500 with red smoothed line an 80-day moving average and orange line a relative comparison to the bond market. The lower part shows blue volume and red spikes as possible trading signals.

WEEKLY REVIEW and PREVIEW

Bonds have been rallying substantially this year. The laggard of the group is the high-yield area, which comprises about half the total portfolio. This divergence is very noticeable over the last two weeks, as investment grade, and especially Treasuries have rallied to all-time high prices (record low yields). High yields, however, sold off the last two weeks on economic fears.

Given a slow growth environment, not a recession, this should correct itself going forward.

Income Charts

WEEKLY REVIEW

No changes this week.

See performance rankings of the equity oriented ETFs on page six.

Each chart shows daily prices (top portion), volume (bottom portion), a moving average (smoothed red line on price portion), a relative performance indicator between the ETF and S&P 500 (orange line), and red spikes. The spikes show potential buy and sell short signals. Generally speaking, it the moving average is trending down, the spike shows a potential sell short. If the moving average is trending up, but the ETF declines, the spike shows a potential buy. The charts do not show selling or covering signals.

The two columns to the left show the rankings of the equity oriented ETFs in our database through the previous Friday's close.

These rankings are based on momentum indicators around which we generally want to trade. Our general strategy is to invest with the stronger performing ETFs by investing with the main trend and against the minor trend down. This means that in a bear (down) market, we want to short the funds that rally against their main trend downward. In a bull market, we want to buy during selloffs with the main trend up.

The leading economic indicators for their part were back up slightly last month after declining the month before. The indicator is up substantially from a year ago, but has moved sideways the last few months.

Fiscal policy remains accommodative, although no new stimulus is planned. And with debt as a percentage of GDP so high, new stimulus is limited.

Interest rates are still the main positive helping the economy. Homeowners refinance as they can, saving hundreds a month. Primarily, however, it makes stock earnings appear cheap. To equalize, the Dow Industrials could double.

So, the markets should continue to muddle along for now without major moves in one direction or the other.

Descriptions & Disclosures

PORTFOLIO DESCRIPTIONS (pages 2 and 3)

Our guiding goal is to provide the most return with the least risk consistently over time through bull and bear markets.

Income Portfolio, page2: Uses a proprietary selection methodology on all of the monitored bond-oriented ETFs to pick the top ETFs. I then use a proprietary timing model to decide whether to buy, sell, hold, or avoid.

Growth Portfolio, page 3: Uses the same methodologies as in the Income Portfolio, except as it is applied to stock-oriented ETFs.

All portfolios were started on 1/1/10 with $100,000.

Portfolio changes will usually be made at the close on Monday, unless otherwise noted in any emailed hotline update. Issues are normally posted on Mondays by 1:30pm cst.

Portfolios are updated through the Friday close the week before.

Dividends are reinvested in additional shares. Commissions of $5/trade and short-term redemption charges, if any, are applied. Interest is zero for the money market (cash) position.

SUBSCRIPTIONS: To receive ETF Selections & Timing, you may subscribe in one of three ways. You may subscribe on the web site InvestmentST.com using PayPal or call 1-800-800-6563 for Visa or MasterCard orders or send a check to the address on the front page. Subscriptions may be tax deductible.

The recurring monthly subscription is $24.00. An annual subscription is $240.00. Subscribers receive this weekly eNewsletter. There is no mailed issue. Subscribers retrieve the current weekly issue at the web site InvestmentST.com by logging in using a log in name and password.

Unless otherwise noted, the weekly eNewsletter is posted by 1:30 PM central time each Monday, except for holidays and then on Tuesday. It may contain actionable, specific buy or sell advice to take that day at the Monday close in each portfolio. Portfolio data will be updated through the previous Friday's close. Fund symbols, rather than names, are the official identification used for activity.

GUARANTEE: Subscriptions may be cancelled at any time. Annual subscriptions are refundable for the weekly term remaining with a four-week minimum charge, using a 52-week count. Monthly subscriptions just expire.
